

Pavlos Hatzopoulos invited me to contribute a short piece for a new online journal published in Greece. It is named “Re-imagining Democracy” and it will focus on theoretical and practical innovations that might renew the field of democracy. The journal will be bilingual (Greek-English) and is funded by the Athens-based Papandreou Foundation. The text was written for second issue of the journal titled “Cities in Flux: New Democratic Forms and Urban Spaces”. As is often the case, I asked Pavlos to write text in the form of an email dialogue.