

Date: Thu, 29 Jan 2009 00:22:04 -0500
From: Julio Huato <juliohuato@gmail.com>
Subject: [lbo-talk] New list for Marxists / Nueva lista para Marxistas
To: Louis Proyect <lnp3@panix.com>, pen-l@lists.csuchico.edu, Lbo Talk <lbo-talk@lbo-talk.org>

I'd like to announce the birth of a new list for Marxists. Mutual help, political cooperation, and comradely debate focused on issues and challenges, political and theoretical, is invited. To register, visit its web page at:

<http://groups.google.com/group/marxist-debate>

—

On Thu, Jan 29, 2009 at 2:21 PM, geert lovink <geert@desk.nl> responded:

hi, why do marxists make use of google? to run such a thing on independent servers is ssoooooo easy. why? are you informed about the issues that surround google? (<http://www.googlizationofeverything.com/>)

best, geert

—

Hi Geert,

I don't know about other Marxists, but in my case I do because that's easiest, most economical for me right now. This is to a large extent due to the fact that I'm not technologically sophisticated. Having said that, if we grow as a list and this Google thing becomes too much of a constraint, then we'll move the list to some other venue. First things first.

Thanks for your interest,

Julio