

In response to a request to write an essay, I agreed to answer to answer a few questions. The context was an event in Vienna, on November 8 2007 entitled „Towards a European Public Space“. You can find the question of Julia Rosch (BPB) and my answers here in the ever-growing ‘pages’ section of my blog. In a little while it will be published on the Eurotopics website. The speed interview covers topics such a the status of user in the age of Web 2.0, Habermas’ notion of internet as a secondary public sphere, the difference between Murdoch and Google, and Europe’s EasyJet culture. For the first time I have used a new genre (at least for me). I interviewed others inside an interview with me. Enjoy.