

Here at Net Critique I published some notes on an interview book by the late Joseph Weizenbaum called Society of the Query. I expanded the essay and it was published in the festive 20 years German Lettre International issue that came out in June. Now, a few months later, the online magazine Eurozine has published the original English version. Here it is: The Society of the Query and the Googlization of our Lives-A tribute to Joseph Weizenbaum.