

3-4 DEC 2015

INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM
WORKSHOPS
& ART

PAKHUIS
DE ZWIJGER
AMSTERDAM

INSTITUTE OF NETWORK
CULTURES
PRESENTS

BANK
EXTORTION

DECENTRALIZED
INSURANCE

ARTISTIC INTERVENTIONS

BLOCKCHAIN
TECHNOLOGIES

FINANCIAL LITERACY

MONEYLAB#2

ECONOMIES OF DISSENT

CRYPTO
CURRENCIES

FINANCIAL LEAKS

institute of network cultures

CREATE-IT APPLIED
RESEARCH

Hogeschool van Amsterdam

NETWORKCULTURES.ORG/MONEYLAB

MONEYLAB#2

ECONOMIES OF DISSENT

3–4 December 2015
Pakhuis de Zwijger

The Institute of Network Cultures presents MONEYLAB#2: Economies of Dissent – an international symposium hosting artists, activists, programmers and academics who probe, challenge and hack today's global economy.

What political imperatives shape the economy of dissent? What are the different views on the redistribution of wealth and the exchange of value out there? How can we re-design our financial infrastructure?

Beyond moral outrage, important first steps are being taken towards systemic interventions in the global austerity economy. We witness an impressive amount of financial counter-concepts, works of art, digital currencies, tools and hacks which give shape to an emerging economy of dissent. This new economy operates across borders, on different scales, from sole acts of defiance to a collective 'oxi' in Greece. It is expressed variously as: strategy, circumvention, innovation, visualization, and making-do.

Two days of talks, performances and workshops unfurl a raft of financial interventions like visualizations of shadow economies, a guidebook on how to extort money from banks, Robin Hood-style financial hacks, peer-to-peer insurance companies, financial leak platforms, and blockchain initiatives for the commons.

Speakers – Robert van Boeschoten / Paolo Cirio / Enric Duran / Primavera De Filippi / David Golumbia / Núria Güell / Max Haiwen / Femke Herregraven / Eduard de Jong / Scott Kildall / Cecile Landman / Silvio Lorusso / Rachel O'Dwyer / Bruce Pon / Paul Radu / Jip de Ridder / Robin Hood Minor Asset Management / Stephanie Rothenberg / Brett Scott

Topics – Bringing the Dark Side of Money to Light | Financial Literacy | Artistic Interventions in Finance | Digital Revenue Models in the Arts | Crypto-Currencies and their Future | Tactics for Economic Dissent | Blockchain Technologies and Initiatives | Decentralized Insurance | Digital Currencies | Financial Leak Platforms | Hacking Global Finance | Bank Extortion | Web-based offshore corruption games | Sharia Banking | Ethereum | Exposing Shadow Economies | and much more...

Partners – Robin Hood Asset Management // CommonEasy // Ascribe

Tickets – € 30 per day incl. lunch
€ 60 passe-partout incl. lunch
Students 50% discount, incl. lunch

More information, tickets and program updates: networkcultures.org/moneylab

MoneyLab is an initiative of the Institute of Network Cultures, Amsterdam University of Applied Sciences, CREATE-IT, Amsterdam Center of Expertise, and the Amsterdam Creative Industries Network.