MoneyLab : Coining Alternatives | Conference, Workshops, Art & Performances

MoneyLab: Coining Alternatives is an international conference on alternative economic models and the future of money, organized by the Institute of Network Cultures on 21-22 March 2014 at Lab 111 (Arie Biemondstraat 111) in Amsterdam.

- What is the future of internet-based currencies like Bitcoin?
- Is crowdfunding signalling a cultural shift in art production and artists' relationships with their audiences?
- What lessons are to be learned from mobile money payment systems in Africa?
- Is it possible to imagine a future sustainable alternative network-economy for the creative industries?
- What would a non-monetary economy look like?
- How can people be encouraged to take up active roles and experiment with alternative models?

The MoneyLab Alternatives Bazaar complements the conference. The Bazaar presents organizations and initiatives directly involved with alternative revenue models and local currencies such as Qoin, Noppes, Next Nature & Eco Currency, Timebank CC, and Peerby. The Alternatives Bazaar provides a platform to network, exchange ideas, and get involved. Further activities include a free crowdfunding workshop, art performances, a Bitcoin ATM, and a film program.
